New York COTTON.

New York May 19.—The cotton market was very nervous during today's trading, with the close barely steady at a net decline of 14923 points. Sales for the day were estimated at 275,000 bales.

The market opened easy at a decline of 16918 points and during the morning sold off to a net loss of 18925 coints on the active months with July teuching 9.63 and October 9.20. This was due to selling of July by strong interests presumably for Liverpool account and liquidation while local bears were more aggressive, owing to the encouragement of easier cables, smaller English spot sales, reports that recent rains were beneficial in parts of Texas and talk of better weather. At the decline the market was steadied by covering and during the middle of the day prices railied to within six or seven points of last night's finals, being influenced possibly by reports of a better demand for cotton goods and the weather bureau weekly report which confirmed last week's advices of unfavorable conditions in parts of the Misersippi walley.

But later the market again became very alley. But later the market again became very insettled, selling off to about the previous ow point on July and to 9.17 on October, wing to absence of bull support and a seariah local sentiment which was promoted unfavorable trade accounts from Germany and reports that special sales of wash toods in this city, while attended by numrous buyers, were realizing low prices. The lose was a shade up from the lowest on overing.

vering. Receipts at the ports today 13,051 bales, ainst 14,078 last week and 12,339 last ar. For the week (estimated) 50,000 bales, ainst 50,506 last week and 52,485 last Today's receipts at New Orleans 4,852 sies, grainst 1,953 last year, and at Hous-n 2,678 bales, against 3,763 last year. NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

New Orleans, May 19.—Spot cotton was steady with prices unchanged. Midding 11 3-16c; sales were 800 bales on the spot and 225 to arrive.

Futures opened steady 13 to 18 points below the close of yesterday as a result of the disappointing showing at Liverpool Together with the unfavorable advices from abroad were weather resports of a nuch liss bullish nature than had been expected. Unmistakable signs of weakness were shown by the summer positions shortly after the call and there was subsequent weakness following he anouncement of the weekly government weather report. The result of the several decidedly bearish features of the future market was a general recession in values at the close, which was steady, the active months were 15 to 20 points below the close yesterday.

a shade higher. Provisions were up 12½ to 25c.

The wheat market was dull but the tons was firm from start to finish. The principal factor was the sharp upturn in corn although firm cables and damage report from Kansas had considerable influence Pit traders gained but little. During the final hour, however, an active general demand based on a rumor that a leading elevator interest, which is said to practically control the cash market, was a free buyer of options, caused a strong advance.

July opened % % \(\frac{1}{2} \) et higher at $8\% \(\frac{1}{2} \) (18\% \(\frac{1}{2} \) of the cash market, was a free buyer of options, caused a strong advance.

in a larger degree. But the market closes strons.

May opened at 78% advanced to 19c and closed at 78c. July opened unchanged to ½; higher at 65% c to 65%c, and advanced to 65%c, where it closed. Local receipts were 380 cars, with 103 contract grade.

The oats market was steady all day Trading was light and confined calefity to commission houses. July opened a shadhigher at 46%c.

The bulge in corn, small receipts of livhogs and a strong market at Liverpoo caused higher prices in provisions. At the close July pork was up 25c at $13.75. Larwas 12½ 615c higher at $8.57½. Riba were up 2½c at $7.42½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Whea 17 cars; corn 160 cars; oats 184 cars; hog 28,000 head

THE STOCK MARKET

New York, May 19.—Another day's transactions of upwards of a million shares marked the continued speculative interest in the stock market today. The dealings at the outset set a face for animation and vigor of the upward movement not equaled since the rise was inaugurated. The early promise was not maintained either in the degree of activty or in the advance in prices, the final issue being a disorderly break at the close.

The unmistakable signs of weariness in the action of the market occasioned no surprise and has been looked for almost from hour to hour for sometime past by the agile professional traders on the floor. They were lying in wait today to add the weight of their short selling to the heavy offerings of profit taking sales which came into the market. It is not at all contrary to the usual course of speculative markets that this reactionary tendency should develop at the very time when realizing is growing that substantial betterment of underlying conditions are at hand.

Reports from mergantile quarters admit that buyers are taking hold with meater consequence than at any time in six months past. This condition applies especially to the three great branches of textiles, food-stuffs and steel and iron.

The plentitude of money supplies and the growing demand amongst banks for mercantile paper also has its effect in opening the deadlock which existed in commercial affairs. Wall Street itself was disposed to pause and take breath today after the opening spurt in the market. That outburst established a level of prices higher than any heretofore touched in this movement and since a considerable time before the October panic of last year. The sudden expansion in the buying at the outset offered so attractive an opportunity for turning paper profits into cash theat it was generally avalled of. An important portion of the new bidding came from foreign sources and there were buying orders executed for many thousand shares for London account duving the morning. There was nothing strikingly unfavorable in th

The upper Coosa will fall slowly, the lower Coosa will remain stationary, and the Alabama will rise moderately during the next two days.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Rains and thunderstorms were quite general in the Southern States yesterday and last night, the rainfall being heavy in scattered portions of Alabama, Georgia, Missisppi and Louisiana. The storm which was central over lowa yesterday has moved east to Lake Michigan, causing rains over the Ohio valley and lake region, and rain is now falling from western New York southward to North Carolina. Generally fair weather prevalls this morning from the Rocky Mountains to the Mississippi River, though an area of "low" central over Wyoming has caused rains in the Pacific coast districts and eastward through Nevada. coast districts and eastward through Nevada.

Temperatures have fallen ten to fourteen degrees in the upper lake region and the upper Pla'eau region have fallen slightly in the South and remain nearly stationary eisewhere, except a rise of 20 degrees in Utah. Conditions now favor fair weather in Alabama tonight and Wednesday.

WEATHER BULLETIN

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, ALABAMA SECTION. weekly Weather Bulletin for the Week Ending Monday, May 18, 1908.

May 18, 1906.

GENERAL SUMMARY.

The weather of the week, as a whole, was a little warmer than usual at this season, and was favorable for outdoor work of all kinds though less than the average sunshine was received.

The weekly mean temperature for the entire state, 75 degrees, was about two degrees above the normal, and 11 degrees higher than the mean for the previous week. The first few nights were rather cool, though the last four days were warm. The warmest day was Sunday, when temperatures of slightly above 90 degrees were recorded over most of the interior of the State, the highest being 94 degrees at Evergreen, Concoun County, and at Fort Deposit, Lowndes County.

Dry weather prevailed during the first three days, though the last four were showery over the western, central and northern counties. The weekly rainfall was less than half an inch over much of the greater portion of the state, none being received in many of the eastern and southern counties. It averaged about one and one-third inches over the western counties, and the greatest weekly amount was 1.70 inches at Livingston, Sumter County. The sunshine was ample in the southern and eastern counties, but was somewhat deficient over the remainder of the state.

The following table shows the temperature and rainfall at selected stations:

Oil King Will Spend $2,000 to Prevent Waste Space.
Tarrytown, N. Y., May 19.—Rather than have two feet of waste space above the ice box in his new home at Pocantico Hills, John D. Roskefeller will spend $2,000 for a larger tee box.
Mr. Rockefeller while inspecting the details of his new home, found that there were two feet of space between the top of the box and the ceiling not the top of the box and the ceiling not utilized.

"What is that space to be used for?" he asked.

The workman in charge replied "that is waste space."

Mr. Rockefeller then gave orders to the builders to tear out the ice box and replace it with one that will reach to the ceiling. The new box will cost $2,000 and work on it was begun immediately.
